Throughout history, prophets have looked forward to the era they described as the fullness of times. Though we live in a time of darkened understanding and corrupt behavior, the Lord has promised that those who firmly seize the gospel message shall be preserved and experience a fullness of joy. Drawing from his own experiences, Elder Robert S. Wood describes how the fullness of the gospel can become part of our daily living and transform our lives so we become complete Christians. He discusses coming to a true understanding of gospel principles, developing true character, exemplifying true discipleship, and grounding all we do in true faith. As we grow, the Lord's bings await us!
