This is the twelfth book about DeKok and his assistant, Vledder. This time it also means an even dozen murders. The victims of a systematic murderer are all killed in the same, horrible way. But that is only the beginning of the puzzle.

It starts on a sunny morning. A child delivers a death announcement to DeKok. "At the request of the deceased, no crocuses, or other flowers". DeKok and Vledder find a card under the windshield wiper of their car: "Ask for the naked lady..". Karate, divorces, sex theaters, crocuses and serial killings. In this labyrinth of facts, where witnesses contradict each other, only DeKok knows the exit.
