Following on from his previous adventures in the Medieval Dimension of Castellion, Chris Casey returns as the legendary Frog, this time unexpectedly accompanied by his best friend Billy Smart. The Guardians call upon him again to help fight the abominable Lord Maelstrom and his sister, the wicked Belzeera. Set in the second Dimension of Aridian, a scorched, desert world where most of the population live underground, he meets new allies including the young Nadiah and her energy-wielding girls of the Sisterhood along with a mysterious character known only as The One. A new Guardian, in the guise of the beautiful Cassaria is on hand to aid him with her Magik and her loyal followers Prince Ameer and Sand Master Katar. Frog's journey takes him into the depths of Aridian, from the spider hatcheries at Pelmore to the wonders of the subterranean eco systems of Arachnae. Amongst his encounters are giant spiders, the ugly Saurs, the aggressive Dreden, the enchanting Firefox and the revered Sandspider Arac-Khan. Join him as desperate enemies and monstrous creatures pursue him at heart stopping and break neck speeds through the underground waterways and caverns of Aridian. Find out what secrets The One holds and what happens when evil turns true friends into enemies. Joffre White tours the country visiting schools, and colleges to promote the importance of reading and literacy by delivering motivational and exciting workshops. Joffre now lives in the market town of Frome in Somerset with his wife, teenage son and a cat called Bob. Frog and the Sandspiders of Aridian is his second book in the Frog series and he continues to work on the next two 'Frog' books along with other projects that are aimed at inspiring children to read.
