In 1852 Samuel Sloan, a prominent architect in Philadelphia, had published a book of house plans: The Model Architect, Volume II. Dr. and Mrs. Haller Nutt, of Natchez, Mississippi, selected a plan from this book to build their home, "Longwood," and employed Samuel Sloan as their architect.

Every detail of the building of "Longwood" including plans, drawings, letters, and inventories have been included in this book.

It is a remarkable study of the building of one of the great Victorian homes.
