It was just an old bed — rather ordinary, bought for the spare room. Except that a hundred years earlier a woman called Rose, who practiced in the occult and dark magic, slept in it. Now Rose's unhappy spirit comes as part of the deal — Rose's angry ghost comes with the bed. That's not what you'd call a bargain. Angela and Nathan are a young couple, married only two years before, both of them professionals. They're happy and in love, although the pressures of modern life can be challenging some days. The antique bed is just right for the spare room in their expensive apartment. Rose's spirit doesn't like happy marriages un you're prepared to wed the Devil. Sleeping in the bed promises erotic dreams with perfect lovers — more passionate and daring than your wife, more considerate and satisfying than your husband. Before long, the dreams are much better than reality.

Three's a crowd in any relationship even when one person is already dead.  Readers please note: This story contains some strong sex scenes that aren't common in my previous Horror Story releases.
