'I hate learning spells and I hate making charms and potions and I'm not going to be a witch at all! Not ever!' Rebellious little Necromancy does not want to follow in her parents' footsteps. Not for her the horrible, damp, stuffy old cave in the middle of the forest. Not for her toadstools, moss-porridge and bats'-leg stew. She has other things in mind - like a proper house with windows and a school to go to. And knowing her determination, she's going to get what she wants by hook or by crook...
