Is this the end of times? Forest fires in Indonesia and the worsening transboundary haze are among other strange happenings that indicate all is not well.

The play is set in contemporary Singapore as the global environment continues to deteriorate and odd weather patterns dominate the world. In the midst of this crisis a few people explore the value of materialism and contrasts it with spiritual values that the country and the rest of the world seem to lack. But things may get worse as a megathrust earthquake is about to hit Asia bringing with it a tsunami of destructive proportions.
